SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 4. 1736.

To the DAILY GAZETTEER.

I R,

Have observed, that some Gentlemen in their Animadversions on Caleb D'Anvers, speak of him Personallly, as if he was himself something, or somebody. As if Caleb, in his own precious Person, wanted to be a Minister of State, and had been railing and lying these Ten or a

Years against an Honourable Gentleman, to get him out of, and himself into his Place: But we always been out of Humour with such fanciful notions. The Identical D'Anvers, being in as much Likelihood of succeeding Kouli Kan in the Throne of Persia, as of getting into any Post, but to which he ought to have been exalted many Years ago, for Falshood and Sedition. Caleb D'Anvers has never meant any thing more than the Street-vendors do, to put off his Packets, and make a Penny's Payson. He had before tried the Market on the other Side of the Way, and found the Customers honest and too knowing, to have any more to do with him and his Wares; so plying next Scribbler, as Mermer do next Sculler, he was taken in by Mr. Broke and Company, who wanted just such a fellow for his Craftsman. One cannot be much deceived with describing what Sort of a Fellow such a must be. The first Accomplishment his Master in him, was invincible Impudence.

That's good, quoth he, turning to a Brother-venditor, we cannot do without such a Forehead: promises every thing. There's a sweet Mixture of Pertness and Stupidity, which qualifies him to whatever is put into his Head, without Regard to Truth or Decency, Censure or Shame. It renders him equally incapable of arguing to convince others, or being himself convinced by Argument. He makes it his Glory to have as many Words, and especially the last, upon which he'll assume an Air of Triumph, which imposes on Bigots and Fools, and does the Business of Faction better than Sense or Reason: It surprizes and puzzles, and then offense and Scandal, raise and keep up a useful stir among the Populace, ready to break out upon any Emergency. He'll surely sling Dirt enough, some will stick, which is all we want of him. He will stand Detection and Infamy with as much gravity, as a Man of Sense stands Applause and Honour: And as he is to say every thing that's bad of the best Men, and every thing that's good of the worst. If he could be mortified by Reproof, or moved by Correction, he would be no Man for

Let him be prov'd in a Lye in this Paper, he'll tell it again in the next, to shew he is not ashamed of it; for if Shame could have the least effect upon him, he would be no more fit for a Man, than for a Harlequin, or a Mountebank. Reasoning is no Talent of his: He has not a Feature in his Face that discovers any Motion which has the least Agreement with Thought. 'Tis no wonder, we shall have no need of Reasoning in our undertaking. He, doubtless, was suffered to stay at College long enough to get a little of the Gibberish of it, and that will serve our Turn much better than true Learning and sound Understanding. As to History, I have pilfered sufficiently, and adorned my Common Place with Allusions and Allegories, to disguise the Defamation, and save his Face, which we must be more careful of than he is, who how to be, tho' it so much behoves him to know them were they are. But he is impetuous, he would run his Head into a Pillory, before we could stop him; if we do not have an Eye upon him; for tho' he only loses his Luggs, yet we should be in the Credit of our Cause much more than if he were as his come to.

He was endowed, Mr. Bolingbroke enters him in the service, and having given him proper Instructions, set him to work, and work'd with him very painfully. He said there was no want of false and scandalous stories and Allusions, ancient and modern Story was pick'd for Sejanus's and Wolfey's, to belye and abuse the Greatest Minister of the Age. It is not in the Power of Invention to form a Character which a Craftsman, of Caleb's Endowments, might not blacken in the same Manner, as he has done one already form'd. Suppose a Minister had all the Wisdom and Probity of a Burleigh; all the Experience and Application of a Godolphin; there's no need of supposing nor consulting a Copy, when an Original is before us. Could those Qualities defend him against the Assaults of Faction and Envy? Did they defend those illustrious Statesmen? Burleigh, the most cautious and wary Minister that ever lived, was rail'd at for rash and precipitated Counsels; and Godolphin, the greatest Oeconomist that ever managed the Treasury, was slander'd as a Plunderer. These two Statesmen flourished in the Reign of Two Queens; Elizabeth and Anne, whose Characters will be best distinguished by their Conduct towards their two Treasurers.

QUEEN Elizabeth, who knew well the Abilities and Services of Burleigh, took it upon herself to chastise the Insolence of those Enviars of that Lord's uncommon Merit, and threatened them with the several Marks of her Displeasure, if they forbore not practising against a Minister, who had deserved so well of herself and the Publick; yet those Enviars of his, were not of the Loose, Prodigal, Rakehell Kind, Men more noted for Lewdness and Vanity, than Quality or Politicks; they were of the most Grave, as well as the most Noble; incited by a Passion that blinds Men's Judgments, and deprives them of the free Use of their Reason. Such as the Duke of Norfolk, Marquis of Winchester, Earls of Arundel, Northumberland, Westmoreland, Pembroke; nay, the reigning Favourite, the Earl of Leicester, joined with them in a Conspiracy to ruin Burleigh; but that glorious Queen protected him against them all, and broke the Confederacy in Pieces; well apprized as she was of the Benefits of Burleigh's most wise and successful Administration, and not to be influenced by the pretended Zeal of false Patriots, who under Colour of publick Spirit, disguised their private Malice and Motives. She would rather have parted with all of them, Powerful as they were by their Fortunes, Families and Friends, than with such a Servant as the Lord Burleigh, on whose Shoulders she could ease her own of the greatest Part of the Burthen of the Government, having had so many Years Experience of his Ability and Fidelity. And accordingly she kept him near her Royal Person, as Secretary of State and Lord Treasurer, forty Years, to the Day of his Death.

THE latter Queen was, on the contrary, so far from protecting her most able and faithful Treasurer against the Rage of Envy, that after a thousand Expressions of the deepest Sense of his Services and Merit, she sign'd a Patent, in which his Successor caused him to be basely stigmatiz'd with the odious, as well as groundless Term of Peculator; but, de mortuis nil nisi bonum. However, this single Instance in the History of these two Queens, is enough to mark the Difference, and direct every one in determining the Preference.

GREAT and wise Princes, always act like Queen Elizabeth, in protecting those that serve them well; their Interest as well as Honour is engaged in it; it being the surest Way for them to be always well served, out of Gratitude and Affection, as well as Duty. Those, who like the latter Queen, give up such Servants upon the Clamours, or even Outrages of Faction, shew, that they are capable of losing in a few Hours, weak and rash Counsels, the Glory and Advantages of ten Years valorous War, and of sinking at once, the greatest Name that ever was, to a Level with that of the meanest among Princes.

Yours,

ET CETERA.

Dublin, Aug. 28. We have an Account from Cavan, that at the last Assizes held there, one Man was found guilty of stealing Cloth out of a Bleach-yard at Coote-hill, and was sentenced to be hang'd for the same on Tuesday last. And a pretended Doctor of Physick, who was presented by the County, received Sentence of Transportation.

On Sunday last died very much lamented at her Father's House in Cople-street, Miss Veley, an agreeable young Lady, and was decently interred on Tuesday at Lucan.

Tuesday last died in Mercer's Hospital, the Servant who set Fire to the Stables of James Belcher, Esq; at Glasnevin. His Leg was broke at the Time of the Fire, and cut off at the Hospital where he was sent for Cure.

On Wednesday last died at Hampstead near this City, Counsellor Huson: He was a Gentleman of an exceeding good Character, and very much lamented by those who had the Favour of his Acquaintance; particularly on Account of his mild and affable Behaviour in Conversation.

Thursday last Richard Malone, junior, Esq; was married to Miss Malone, Daughter of Henry Malone, Esq; of Litter in the King's County, a young Lady of great Beauty and Merit, with an Estate of 1000 l. per Ann. besides a considerable Quantity of ready Money.

The same Day in the Evening died at his House in Dawson street, to the very great Loss of the Poor, whom he was ready to serve on all Opportunities, Alexander Mac Naughton, M. D. and one of the Fellows of the College of Physicians.

The old Hospital Man and Soldier, who were reprieved to this Day, were further reprieved to next Saturday.

This Day were executed near St. Stephen's Green, Andrew Ptolemy, a Butcher's Apprentice of St. Patrick's street, and Thomas Conolly, for robbing the House of Mr. Nihil in Meath-street.

This Week a great Quantity of blown Meat was burn'd before the Tholose, by Order of the Lord Mayor.

A Proclamation was also published by his Lordship's Order, for regulating the Constables of this City, by reducing their Number.

We hear from Warwick, that at the last Assizes held there, one John King of the Parish of Brailles in that County, was indicted there for Cursing the King, and drinking the Pretender's Health, by the Name of King James the Third; which Indictment King traversed, and will be tried for the same the next Assizes.

Money is sent from the Pay Office in Broad-street to Portsmouth, to pay the Wages due to the Companies of his Majesty's Ships the Lively, and Salamander Sloop, to the 31st of December.

On Sunday Morning last, betwixt 6 and 7 o'Clock, Mr. George Marlow, a Farmer at Kingston, going from thence to Richmond, was attacked between Richmond and Petersham by two Foot Pads, who knock'd him down, bound him Neck and Heels, rifled him of 14 l. 2 s. and then left him, in which Condition he lay till between 10 and 11 o'Clock before he was released.

Wednesday last William Ingram of Deptford, Esq; was married at Wimbledon, to Miss Warton, only Daughter of Robert Warton, Esq; a very agreeable young Lady, with a Fortune of 7000 l.

This Day the Right Honourable the Earl and Countess of Bute, set out from her Father's House in Cavendish Square, for the Earl's Seat in the Island of Bute, near Edinburgh.

This Day if the Weather permits, her Majesty, the Prince, Duke, &c. will take the diversion of hunting a Stag in Richmond New Park, afterwards Dine at Kew, and return in the Evening to Kensington.

Yesterday the Right Honourable the Countess of Deloraine, Governess to their Highnesses the Princesses Mary and Louisa, went from St. James's to her Apartments in the Royal Palace at Kensington. The Report of her Ladyship having resign'd her Employment as Governess, is without Foundation.

The Princesses Mary and Louisa, are to Dine with the Princesses Amelia and Caroline, and the Countess of Deloraine is to be allowed 500 l. per Ann. for her Table.

Yesterday two Men were committed to Newgate by Colonel de Veil, for stealing a large Quantity of Lead.

Dr. ROBERT EATON'S
BALSAMICK STYPTICK.

Truly prepared and sold at the Doctor's late Dwelling House, now Mr. DUTTON's in Salisbury Court, Fleet-street.

THIS Medicine restrains in a most surprising Manner, all internal as well as external Hemorrhages, i. e. it intallibly and quickly stops all dangerous bleedings at the Nose or Gums, spitting or vomiting Blood; also the immoderate Flux of the Hemorrhoides or Meneses, bloody Urine or Stools, bleeding of large Wounds, &c. (if used according to the plain Directions given with it) as will appear by the Certificates of several Eminent Physicians, and in the large Account of this Medicine, written by the Doctor himself, and dedicated to the College of Physicians a little before his Death.

It keeps good for many Years at Sea, or on Shoar, at Home or Abroad, i. e. in all Climates, therefore must be universally Useful.

The Doctor not only obtained his Majesty's Letters Patent for the sole Vending of this most Excellent Medicine; but also a Clause in a late Act of Parliament, exempting this Medicine from the Inspection of the Censors of the College of Physicians, to which all other Medicines are liable.

N. B. Some of the Apothecaries prepare a Styptic from a Prescription of Helvetius, and use it in the Room of Dr. Eaton's; but whoever tries both, will soon be persuaded that Our's exceeds theirs in all Respects, in a most eminent Degree.

Sold, by Licence, at Gamaway's Old Shop, Practical Scheme, at the Royal Exchange; Mr. R. Bradshaw's Warehouse behind the Royal Exchange; Mr. John Potter, Chymist, in Bartholomew Close; Mr. William Evans, Bookseller in Bristol; Mr. Hammond, Jun.
